SACRAMENTO – The following statement was released today by California Chamber of Commerce President Allan Zaremberg in support of the rollback of numerous “job killer” bills enacted by the legislature:

“When these bills were first introduced, the Chamber designated them as ‘job killers’ – and unfortunately, that’s what they turned out to be. We were worried that these proposals would cost California jobs – and our predictions turned out to be true. These proposals have further hurt California’s stagnant economy, and cost Californians jobs.”

“With California’s budget crisis and current business climate, it is essential that we enact laws to help stimulate our economy. The Chamber applauds the efforts of those legislators working to repeal some of California’s ‘job killer’ laws, and stimulate job creation for our workers and their families.”
